"The ram-head works against a fixed toothed face, and, if there were nothing more, stones put into the buyer would be simply crushed between the two-much as in flicke's machine. But here the similarity ends. It has been found that what we may best term a showing section materially facilitates the breakage of the chose, and this chewing action is obtained by mounting the run-head and its firms-har or handle on an eccentric close to the head. The motion attained by the use of the scentric produces the precise effect required very efficiently. All the arrangements are very simple and machanical, and the machine appears to have nothing about it to get out of order. We were much pleased with it."

Chinese Immigration. It will not have been forgotten that during the late scerion of the Local Legislature the member for Nanaimo moved a resolution having for its object the introduction of a bill to make it uplawful for any contractor taking a contract under either the Provincial or Dominion Governments to employ Chinese labor on public works of any kind. The same gentleman also moved a second resolution, to the effect that a per capita tax be imposed upon every Chinaman within the Province of fifty dollars. In support of these bancombe resolutions, the hon. gentleman spoke at considerable length and with an air of assumed sincerity calculated almost to deceive the very elect—with a zeal that no stranger could for a moment imagine was put on for the occasion, and was in fact as illusory as the changeable hues of the chameleon. We ventured at the pretensions as well as to show the ab-surdity of the resolutions themselves. We expressed the opinion that white laborers had nothing to fear by having to compete with Chinese, for in almost every respect they would have the advantage of them, and allowing it to be true as stated that two white men are equal to three Chinamen at almost any kind of labor, would it not follow as a matter of fact that white labor would be preferred to Mongolian just in the ratio of their greater usefuluess? The member for Nanaimo evidently had an axe to grind at the time, and he simply wanted to make John Chinaman the medium through which to accomplish that object. The discussion of these subjects in our Legislature we see has been noticed by some of our Eastern Provincial exchanges, and it is gravify-ing to observe that the Montreal Gazette, one of the most influential papers in the whole Dominion, fully coincides with the views we enunciated at the time. and coucledes that even if this Legislature had been silly enough to enact laws based upon the res-olations of the member for Nanaimo, the Dominion Government would have disallowed them. Our Montreal contemporary, after briefly stating the case as gathered from the member for Nanaimo's speech and the position as-sumed by the Government in opposition thereto, says: "The first and principal reason why no such prohibition should be enforced is, that it is absolutely necessary for the effectual opening up and colonization of this country that the Pacific Railroad should be built, and that it should be built with the least possible delay. Until the road is built the colonization of our enormous territory, more particularly that on the Pacific side of the continent, is impossible; it is neces-sary also as forming the link uniting the Provinces comprising the Dominion, and ment of Chinese labor on the railroad WILL HOLD THERE ANNUAL GATH would not deter in any way the class of

But the Chinese who leave their country are never artizans of any character or ability; it is known that a Chinaman who leaves his country nuder any circumstances is viewed almost as a criminal, and in every country into which Chineso have been introduced by means of small bounties and large promises the grade of the people has been low. And it people has been low. And it would be unconstitutional to ask the would be unconstitutional to ask the government of a free country to prohibit the employment of Chinese labor upon public works, because the effect of this prohibition would be to entirely exclude the Chinese from the country. The Victoria Legislature refused to sanction this exclusion, and a similar result, we are convinced, would follow an application made to the Dominion Government. cation made to the Dominion Govern-ment. Causda must remain open to all; if Chinese laborers came here they take their chance of obtaining employment, and if the contractors of the Pacific Rail-road find their labor suitable and cheaper than other labor suitable and cheaper than other labor they can employ, and that this is the only labor which they can obtain, then no restrictive conditions obtain, then no restrictive cond tions should be placed upon the class of laborers to be engaged upon the road. Be-sides, at the time of Confederation no such proposal was made, the Legislature of British Columbia had expressed no of British Columbia had expressed no opinion unfavorable to the introduction and employment of Chinese labor, and indeed up the present time it has not done so; and if any such proposal should be made now it would clearly be, as was pointed out by the Atterney General of the Presings and according to the introduction and employment of Chinese labor, and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the present time it has not done and indicate the Province, unconstitutional. The question is one of very considerable importance as affecting the labor market of this country. We believe that a short time ago an agent visited some of our western cities for the purpose of ascertaining whether Chinese labor could be introduced there. There is, however no ground for alarm lest Chinese immigrants should supplant our native work-men in the labor market, our artizans can hold their own when brought into competition with foreign labor, and the demand for elever workmen in this country always exceeds the supply."
